CONSIDER THE REGALE LILIES

(Lillium Myrophyllym)

One of the very finest of all Lilies. Very large trumpet shape flowers, color ivory white, shading to pink, inside flushed sulphur yellow. Very fragrant, blooms in July.

Regale Lily bulbs are best planted in the fall, but they can also be planted in the early spring with very good results. Plant in any well prepared soil 4 to 6 inches deep, and 6 to 12 inches apart, and were they are to remain for several years, if not disturbed, they will increase in height, and produce more blooms each succeeding year.

MILLERS GIANT FLOWERING DELPHINIUMS.

These new early giant flowering Delphiniums are the result of cross-pollination of a large type of Delphinium Belladonna and the giant flowering Wrexham, or Hollyhock strain. They bloom early like the Belladonna, but have the same general character of growth that has distinguished the famous Wrexham type,

Many of my plants grow 5 to 8 feet tall and carry immense big spikes, with 2 to 3 1/2 feet of bloom, flowers measuring 2 to 2 1/2 inches across.

These new Delphiniums come in a wide range of beautiful new shades of blue rich purple, mauve orchid, rose pink, rosy magenta, sapphire and white, many with wonderful two tone effects, some have very attractive centers of white, yellow, gold brown, tan and black.

These stately and beautiful plants have many places in the garden, set singly, or in groups in the flower border, or among the shrubbery, and gorgeous effects can be had by planting in large masses by themselves.

Delphiniums can be successfully planted either in the fall or early spring, (plant 18 in. each way). They thrive well in any good garden soil; however, they are heavy feeders and will respond greatly with larger flowers and more massive spikes, if a double handful of bone-meal is applied and worked into the soil around each plant in the fall and spring. A top dressing of lime is also beneficial.

These new Delphiniums, if supplied with plenty of moisture, and the stalks cut back after blooming, then given a supplementary feeding of some quick acting fertilizer like blood meal, tankage, or sheep manure, will often bloom three times during the summer.

A Stock of these Plants can be easily raised from Seeds.
